

CALL FOR PANEL MEMBERS ON SELF-MANAGEMENT INTERVENTIONS FOR HEART FAILURE

Are you a patient with Heart failure (HF) or a health care provider?

Join a panel that will formulate clinical recommendations about the most promising self-management interventions (SMI) in patients with HF.

Your work will ensure that SMIs are effective, safe and equally accessible for patients with HF in Europe and around the globe.

Help us improve health care of patients with
Heart Failure

APPLY NOW!

We are looking for:

- Health care providers

Cardiologists, Family Practitioners, Internists, Nurses, Physiotherapists, Psychologists and other related professionals

- Patients

- Caregivers

With experience in Heart Failure care and/or SMI

Who can apply?

- ✓ Citizenship/residency of EU/EFTA member state.
- ✓ A good knowledge of the english language, allowing reading documents and active participation in panel discussions.
- ✓ If you are a health care professional you must have at least 5 years of experience
- ✓ No financial interest or other interests, which could affect independence, impartiality and objectivity.

What do we expect from you?

Availability to carry out remote work (background reading and watching some videos) and at least two teleconferences during fall and winter 2021-2022

How can you apply?

Take a look at the selection criteria in the call text and apply online here, before September the 3rd 2021

Why should you participate?

You will be joining an European initiative to improve HF patients health, will be part of the publications related to the recommendations, and will be acknowledged in the COMPAR-EU platform. Panel members will not be paid.

How will you be selected?

Once submitted, your application will be reviewed by at least two members of the selection board